Footnotes

- 1 For primary investments, exposure commitment is the commitment to the investment. For secondary and co-investments, exposure commitment is the purchase price paid plus unfunded commitment on the day of purchase.
- 2 Cumulative Contributions represent all amounts funded to the investments, including amounts contributed for fees and expenses.
- 3 The cost basis of the investments in private equity limited partnerships is determined utilizing the Partners' proportionate share of the cost basis of each limited partnership and their portfolio companies, as well as net other assets.
- 4 We use the best information we have reasonably available to determine or estimate fair value. We estimate fair value for private interests based on a methodology that begins with the most recent information available from the general partner of the underlying fund or partnership, and considers subsequent transactions, such as capital contributions or distributions. The investments include adjustments based on information judged to be reliable that reports or indicates valuation changes, including realizations and other portfolio company events.
- 5 Cumulative Distributions represents all amounts distributed by the investment and includes additional cash receipts.
- 6 Total value equals Fair value plus Cumulative Distributions.
- 7 Vintage year is based on the year of first cash flow.
- 8 Unfunded Commitment represents contributions applied to commitment less recallable distributions. This amount also includes payables to investments. Commitments denominated in foreign currency are translated into U.S. dollar equivalents using spot rates as of September 30, 2025.
- 9 Gross internal rate of return (IRR) calculated based on cash inflow/outflow to investment and the current net asset value. IRR is presented net of underlying investment fees but gross of NB fees and carried interest. The Gross IRR of private equity investments is not meaningful (NM) in the early years.
- 10 Gross multiple of invested capital (MOIC) is computed based on commencement-to-date distributions plus the current net asset value divided by commencement-to-date capital contributions. MOIC is presented net of underlying investment fees but gross of NB fees and carried interest.
